

The Lake House of Úlfljótsvatn is an old farmhouse situated on the shores of the lake Úlfljótsvatn that offers short-term accommodation in the winter time. It is only a 20 minutes drive from Selfoss. The land it sits on is co-owned with the Icelandic Boys & Girls Scout Association and the Reykjavík Scout Association. It is mostly dedicated to carbon sequestration tree plantations and scouting outdoor activities in the summer.

This three-story house can accommodate families, couples and individual travelers. The house has an open kitchen for cooking, two modern bathrooms to share, and a cosy living-room with beautiful views of the mountain Þúrfell, the picturesque church of Úlfljótsvatn, and the lake. The absence of city lights makes it a perfect spot to observe northern lights. It is overall an ideal location for escaping the city and enjoying the beauty and silence of the Icelandic nature.

It is an excellent stay-over location to drive the Golden Circle with close access to: the crater Kerið, the Viking parliament of Þingvellir and its national park, Geysir, Gullfoss waterfall, as well as many woodlands and forests.

WELCOME TO THE LAKE HOUSE OF ÚLFLJÓTSVATN

HOUSE OF THE ICELANDIC
FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

ABOUT US

Founded in 1930, the Icelandic Forestry Association (IFA) is a national umbrella organisation for local and regional forestry associations throughout Iceland. As such it is one of the oldest and biggest environmental NGOs of the country. The goal of the IFA is to further the interests of forestry in Iceland and encourage all kinds of environmental improvements. We therefore supervise and take part in various specific forestry projects and provide guidance and information to our member associations, private entities and the general public. In addition to representing the interests of the forestry associations of Iceland, we conduct and take part in many extensive tree planting activities through the Land Reclamation Project, the Yrkja Fund, and the carbon offsetting tree plantations of the Icelandic Carbon Fund.
